Final Assessment:

Based on online searches, no verifiable evidence confirms the existence of "Pieter Mouthaan" or "Michael Moore" as described. While "Kenneth Dean" is associated with a legitimate company, the specifics of his role differ from the provided description. The absence of public records, business affiliations, or social media profiles matching these specific identities raises concerns about their legitimacy.

Recommendation: With the advancement of AI, it is now easier than ever to create realistic fake identities, complete with professional-looking profiles and AI-generated images. This makes it increasingly difficult to differentiate between real and fabricated person. Always verify credentials through multiple reliable sources before trusting or engaging with unknown individuals online or in professional settings.

Also, www.linkedin.com is a crazy thing. While I did know there was something called Linked In, I never really tried using it. Thanks to this assignment, it will be easier for me in the future to make a good and promising resume in case someone tries to find me like I tried to find these 3 individuals and also land good job opportunities.
